

The top is my Github profile. I use the github search function to find my account and display it. I then use the url to my repositories to create an array of repositories to fill the recycler view. It takes a while to load though.

